

HARRIMAN WON'T RETIRE AT 60 AS HE HAD PROMISED

Birthday Is To-Morrow, but He Is Unable to Quit Business.

TOO MUCH AT STAKE.

Says He Must Stick Until Matters Are Placed in Competent Hands.

Some three years ago, long before he became engaged in a personal controversy with President Roosevelt and prior to the exposure of the great insurance scandals, E. H. Harriman said in an interview:

"When I reach the age of sixty I shall retire from active business."

E. H. Harriman will be sixty years old to-morrow.

He reaches the three score mark in his life closely pursued by a wave of public condemnation through which may be caught occasional glimpses of others of the law. He has fought his way to a position of power in the railroad and financial world such as no other man has ever enjoyed—if, indeed, he enjoys it—and, it may safely be stated, such as no one man will ever reach again in this country.

He cannot let go.

He hasn't changed his mind, he says, but circumstances have changed.

It does not appear that Mr. Harriman is in position to keep his pledge to retire. He has so pyramided his ventures that if he loosens his grip on them they are likely to topple over and bury him.

Too Many Moves.

"There are too many moves to be made," he said today. "And I haven't had time to think of retirement. There is nothing to do but stick until matters get into competent hands, at least, and until confidence is restored. There are too many moves yet to be made before any degree of stability is possible. The people must be made to appreciate the interrelation of the various factors of industry. They must see to it that the law is administered in their interest, and not as a matter of personal caprice."

"I don't want to say how long I'll stay in harness."

"Eliminate Self-Seeker."

"We men who manage the roads are not the capitalists. The security holders from whom we borrow the money are the capitalists, and they are in partnership with the wage earners in trying to make a fair profit out of serving the public. What becomes of us when unwise governmental interference, resulting in such a condition of distrust as prevails at present, jumbles up all the factors in one conglomeration?"

"I believe that things will right themselves when people have had a chance to understand the situation, provided that we eliminate the self-seeker."

"I am not opposed to railroad regulation, provided it is coupled with railroad protection. Long ago I expressed the view that regulation, even to the point of allowing the Interstate Commerce Commission to fix the rates, was not to be combated, provided the Government would allow the roads to make agreements with each other through the repeal of the Sherman law. "Sensible control" is necessary on the part of the government, and I am in my mind the three things that will not let the roads right with the people in the end."

GREAT NORTHERN LOSES APPEAL ON REBATE FINES.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24.—The question whether the Railroad Rate law, known as the Hepburn act, repeals section 1 of the Elkins act, prohibiting rebates by railroads, was involved in the case of the Great Northern Railway Company versus the United States, which was decided today by the Supreme Court of the United States against the railroad company and against the contention of such repeal. The case was instituted in the United States District Court for the District of Minnesota, which court found the railroad $100,000 each for fifteen violations of the first section of the Elkins law.

CASTORIA WITHOUT BANEFUL NARCOTIC.

Children's Remedy Pronounced Safe by Medical Fraternity and Often Prescribed.

An association of physicians, all of whom were born in the drug trade, so to speak, first gave to the world Castoria, a pleasant and effective remedy for the ailments of infants and children. As a meritorious preparation, its reward has been the greatest popularity ever enjoyed by any remedy put upon the market, attained, not by flamboyant advertising or appeals to ignorance, but by the endorsement of all physicians and many prescribers.

Healthy parents know this remedy of old, for they took it themselves as children. It was more than thirty years ago that Castoria made a place for itself in the household. It bore the signature of Charles H. Fletcher then, as it does today.

Dr. William J. McCann, of Omaha, Neb., says: "As the father of thirteen children, I know something about your great medicine. I have used it in my years of practice, found Castoria a popular and efficient remedy."

First of all, Castoria is a vegetable preparation which assimilates the food and regulates the stomach and bowels. It always feverishness and prevents loss of sleep absolutely without the use of baneful narcotics.

THROWN IN RIVER AFTER FIGHT FOR LIFE ON WHARF

Julius Pink, of No. 510 West Forty-ninth street, was drowned in the East River at the foot of East Twenty-first street, early today under mysterious circumstances. It is believed that he was thrown into the water by men who lured him to the pier for the purpose of robbery.

Sinclair Godie, mate of a sand schooner moored at the pier, heard cries for help, jumped out of his bunk and ran to the wharf. He could see a man struggling in the water off the end of a pier. Godie threw the man a rope, but he was too far gone to hold it. Another man from the sand schooner joined Godie and they lowered a boat. The man was dragged from the water, but died before a doctor from Bellevue Hospital reached the scene. There was nothing in his clothing by which he could be identified. He wore an overcoat, but no undercoat and his collar and necktie were missing. The body was removed to the Morgue, where it was identified this afternoon as that of Pink by John Kennenewitz, a cousin of the dead man. Kennenewitz said he could not explain the tragedy. The snow at the end of the pier was trampled down, as though there had been a struggle when Godie started to the aid of the man in the river.

THE DRESSMAKER'S MESSAGE

TO THE STOUT WOMAN!

"GET A Nemo SELF-REDUCING CORSET BEFORE HAVING YOUR NEW GOWNS FITTED"

THAT'S good advice; for no woman has ever yet reduced her abdomen, with comfort and perfect safety, by the use of any corset except the Nemo Self-Reducing.

STOUT WOMEN who want to follow the prevailing mode of slenderness below the waist-line may do so, and still be perfectly comfortable, by wearing the Nemo Self-Reducing Corset in the new "Flatting-Back" models.

WOMEN of luxurious tastes, who pay $10.00 for our superb No. 1000, will get a corset far more shapely, stylish, comfortable and durable than the best French corset they can buy at double the price.

THOUSANDS of stout women, who fancied that they must have their corsets made to order, are now saving more than half their money and enjoying greater comfort, by wearing the famous Nemo Self-Reducing Corset.

WHY does your dressmaker recommend this corset? Because it saves her work, and enables her to give you the best figure you ever had.
